REFWORKS

Web-based personal bibliographic database management system that allows users to:

- Import citation information from a variety of online database
- Enter data manually or import from additional online resources such as PubMed and Google Scholar.
- Generate citations and bibliographies in a variety of style formats in seconds.
- Manage and organize research and easily share it with colleagues

Access RefWorks through the library's website under Accounts—>Refworks

Off-campus access requires a group code. It will be emailed when an account is created or go to How Can I...?—>Get Refworks Code

EBOOKS

Most electronic books are listed in the library catalog (GIL-Find) and have links to view the ebooks online.

If you want to download ebooks from EBSCO,
then you need to create an EBSCO account and an Adobe account to use Adobe Digital Edition software. Download link available from EBSCO.

You may also access ebooks by going to Articles & Databases—> Databases by title—> Ebooks on Ebsco or Ebrary (online viewing only)
