(14) (With Alona E. Evans) Editor and Contributor, Legal Aspects of International Terrorism, Lexington, MA, Lexington Books, 1978, pp. xv-xxxviii, 695. This book represents the culmination of a project that began in the fall of 1975 when a working group of the American Society of International Law was convened under the direction of Professor Evans and myself in order to prepare a study for the Department of State. The report of the working group was submitted to the Department of State on September 1, 1977. The book is a revised, expanded, and updated version of that report. In addition to serving as co-director of the working group and as co-editor of the report and the book, I was a primary or sole author of the following parts of the book: the preface, pp. xv-xix; the acknowledgments section, p. xiii; the introduction, pp. xxiii-xxxviii; the chapter on Protected Persons and Diplomatic Facilities, pp. 277-339; the chapter on State Self-Help and Problems of Public International Law, pp. 553-73; and the appendix, which summarizes the conclusions and recommendations of the project and their support rationale, pp. 633-68.

In 1979, for my work on this book, I received the Ethel and Raymond F. Rice Prize for Faculty Scholarship at the University of Kansas Law School.
