PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE:

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS MEDICAL CENTER, Department of Medicine/Division of Cardiovascular Medicine, Worcester, Massachusetts, 1994-1997:

Biostatistician: Worcester Heart Attack Study. Responsible for designing and directing data management/statistical analysis activities for this coronary heart disease surveillance project examining time trends in the occurrence and survival rates of patients with coronary heart disease. Provided research support to the Division of Cardiovascular Medicine faculty in the design and development of: questionnaires and other data collection forms, database systems, data analysis plans, and written summaries of analyses for scientific journals and/or presentations. Supervise data entry personnel.

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS MEDICAL CENTER, Department of Medicine/Division of General Medicine, Worcester, Massachusetts, 1994:

Health Services Researcher: Program in Healthcare Innovation. Coordinate clinical research performed by medical center providers as part of the Healthcare Innovation Grants program which allows investigators to pursue clinical questions concerning outcomes or quality of care. Assist with periodic review and selection of projects submitted to the mini-grants program. Provide support to investigators on all phases of their studies including: evaluation of study designs, design of data collection forms and questionnaires, design and maintenance of research databases, data analysis at appropriate statistical level, and provision of tabular and written summaries of analyses for manuscript preparation and/or scientific meetings.

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS MEDICAL CENTER, Department of Pediatrics, Worcester, Massachusetts, 1990-1994:

Program Coordinator: Faculty Development in General Pediatrics (Bureau of Health Care Professionals, National Institutes of Health). Coordinated and implemented all program components including: faculty and community preceptor recruitment, implementation of workshops, and facilitation of both academic and administrative input into curriculum development and on-going coordination. Responsible for data collection and evaluation of various curriculum subgroups and objectives.

Curriculum Development and Evaluation Coordinator: Primary Care Residency Training in General Pediatrics Program (Bureau of Health Care Professionals, National Institutes of Health). Coordinated curriculum development across various program components. Developed and implemented the educational and program evaluation. Organized and administered the office-based primary care education program. Designed, implemented, and maintained a computerized patient tracking system for resident patient panels.

Evaluation Coordinator: Medical Student Third Year Clerkship (University of Massachusetts Medical School). Coordinated and implemented evaluation component of Pediatric and Maternal & Child Health third-year student clerkships including: development of data collection forms and questionnaires, supervision of data collection, and data analysis and subsequent integration into curriculum development and report generation.

Research Associate: Involved in all aspects (questionnaire design, data collection, statistical analysis and report generation) of several research projects in primary care pediatrics, including:

- Confidentiality in Health Care - A Survey of Knowledge, Perceptions, and Attitudes in High School Students
- Expectations, Goals, and Perceived Effectiveness of Child Health Supervision: A Study of Parents
- Time Management - A Survey of Pediatric Resident Preceptors
- Adolescent Sexuality - Knowledge, Attitudes and Resource Needs in Medical Education: A Survey of Community-Based Pediatricians
- Screening for Adolescent Alcohol Use in a Pediatric Office
- Is There a Difference in Satisfaction Between Patients Receiving Primary Pediatric Care from Residents Versus Attending Physicians?
- Emergency Room Utilization in a Large Pediatric Group Practice

UNIVERSITY OF ROCHESTER MEDICAL CENTER, Department of Pediatrics, Rochester, New York, 1988-1990:

Senior Health Project Coordinator: Rochester Enhancement and Analysis of Children's Health Project (New York State Department of Health - Primary Care Initiative Development Program). Coordinated and implemented all aspects of the project including: medical chart data abstractions, data entry, and integration of a computer-based Patient Care Information System into the Outpatient Pediatric Continuity Clinic; developed multiple clinical intervention studies; trained and supervised project staff; developed data collection materials/questionnaires, quarterly progress reports, and grant applications.

Co-Investigator: Quality Assurance in Pediatric Ambulatory Settings (Rochester General Hospital, Rochester, New York). Developed, coordinated and implemented various aspects of the research study including: study design; data collection; staff/interviewer training and supervision; and statistical analysis plan.

Senior Information Analyst: Determinants of Childhood Poison Ingestions (National Institute of Child Health and Human Development). Coordinated and implemented all aspects of the research protocol including: development of case/control study design; design of data collection instruments, study protocols and training manuals; hiring, training and supervision of project staff; and integration of community pediatricians into the project.

Research Associate: HEALTHLINE Consumer Survey (Aetna Insurance Company). Developed and implemented nationwide consumer survey. Designed mail questionnaire, as well as supervised coding, editing and analysis of data collection forms.

ROCHESTER AREA HOSPITALS CORPORATION, Rochester, New York: Planning Analyst/Epidemiologist, 1984-1987.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE, Department of Behavioral Epidemiology, Boston, Massachusetts: Epidemiologist/Biostatistician, 1980-1984.

YALE UNIVERSITY MEDICAL SCHOOL, Department of Epidemiology and Public Health, New Haven, Connecticut: Research Associate, 1979-1980.

MASSACHUSETTS ASSOCIATION FOR THE BLIND/NATIONAL BRAILLE PRESS, INC.,
Brookline, Massachusetts: Supervisor of Volunteers, 1974-1978.

EDUCATION:

College: Northeastern University, Boston, Massachusetts, 1973-1977. B.S. in Biology (Magna Cum Laud)
Honors: Phi Sigma (biologic honorary), member 1976-77
The Academy (liberal arts honorary), member 1976-1977
Graduate Work: Yale University Medical School, Department of Epidemiology and Public Health, New Haven, Connecticut, 1978-1980, M.P.H.
Major Area: Chronic Disease Epidemiology
Minor Area: Biostatistics
Thesis: Social Support Systems, Crowding and Blood Pressure in the Prison
Environment

COMPUTER/STATISTICAL EXPERIENCE:

Previous work experience with statistical analyses involving many levels of sophistication - from basic descriptive statistics to multivariate analyses.

Previous work experience with utilization of various software packages (including both DOS and Windows applications):

- Statistical - SPSS, SAS, BMDP, and EpiInfo
- Database Management - dBase III Plus, dBase IV, ACCESS
- Spreadsheet - Lotus 1-2-3, Excel
- Word Processing - WordPerfect, Word
- Graphics - Harvard Graphics, DrawPerfect, PowerPoint, Publisher

PROFESSIONAL AFFILIATIONS:

Member: American Public Health Association, 1978 to present

Member: Society for Epidemiologic Research, 1979 to present

Member: AcademyHealth, 1994 to present

Member: Massachusetts Public Health Association, 2001 to present

TEACHING EXPERIENCE:

Recipient of the annual Sarah Stone Excellence in Teaching Award from the University of Massachusetts Medical School's Women's Faculty Committee, May, 2008.

University of Massachusetts Medical School, 1992 to present

Course Director; teach of second year medical student course in "Epidemiology and Biostatistics"; oversee coordination and administration of course and conduct didactic teaching and small group facilitative workshops.

University of Massachusetts Medical School, 1995 to 2001, 2005 to 2008

UMass/Amherst MPH program (Worcester campus); teach graduate level course in "Practical Data Management and Statistical Computation" and "Research Methods in Public Health".

Judith A. Savageau, MPH

University of Massachusetts Medical School, 1997 to present
Coordinate medical school's fourth year elective in Preventive Medicine and Public Health;
provide teaching in research methods and data analysis.

University of Massachusetts Medical School, 1997 to present
Family Medicine and Community Health Summer Research Fellowship; provide seminar series for first and second year students in research methods and data analysis.

University of Massachusetts Medical School, 1999 to present
Family Medicine and Community Health Preventive Medicine Residency; provide seminars on study design, bias, survey instrument development, data management, strategies for selecting a research project, scientific writing, and academic research.

University of Massachusetts Medical School, 2003 to present
Center for Health Policy and Research – Continuous Learning Workshop Series; conduct numerous workshops on questionnaire design/survey instrument development, scale development, research methods, literature searching, scientific writing and data analysis.

University of Massachusetts Medical School, 2005 to present
Macy Initiative in Health Communication – conduct workshops in scientific writing for eight
New England partner schools' Macy mentors/mentees.

University of Massachusetts Medical School, 2006 to present
Center for Adoption Research – conduct numerous workshops on questionnaire design/survey instrument development, research methods, scientific writing and qualitative data analysis.

University of Massachusetts Medical School, 1999 to 2005
Department of Psychiatry - Behavioral Sciences Research Core; provide seminars (to a university-wide audience of researchers) on study design, bias, survey instrument development, data management, strategies for selecting a research project, and academic research.

University of Massachusetts Medical School, 2001 to 2003
Department of Family Medicine and Community Health – Faculty Development Fellowship; provide half-day workshops on questionnaire design/survey instrument development and data analysis.

University of Massachusetts Medical School, 1991 to 1994
Small group facilitator in Faculty Development Program (five day workshop for new trainees) designed to train community-based practitioners who precept pediatric residents and medical students.

Boston University School of Medicine, 1982 to 1984
Lecturer in Epidemiologic and Statistical Considerations in Research.

CONSULTING EXPERIENCE:

University of Massachusetts, Department of Family Medicine and Community Health
Research Projects, 1994 to present

Judith A. Savageau, MPH
