To help you find solutions to complex climate change problems, recognizing social justice and climate change are intertwined, PSU Library hosts the Climate Justice Collection, one of PDXScholar's top ten most downloaded collections: pdxscholar.library.pdx.edu/climate

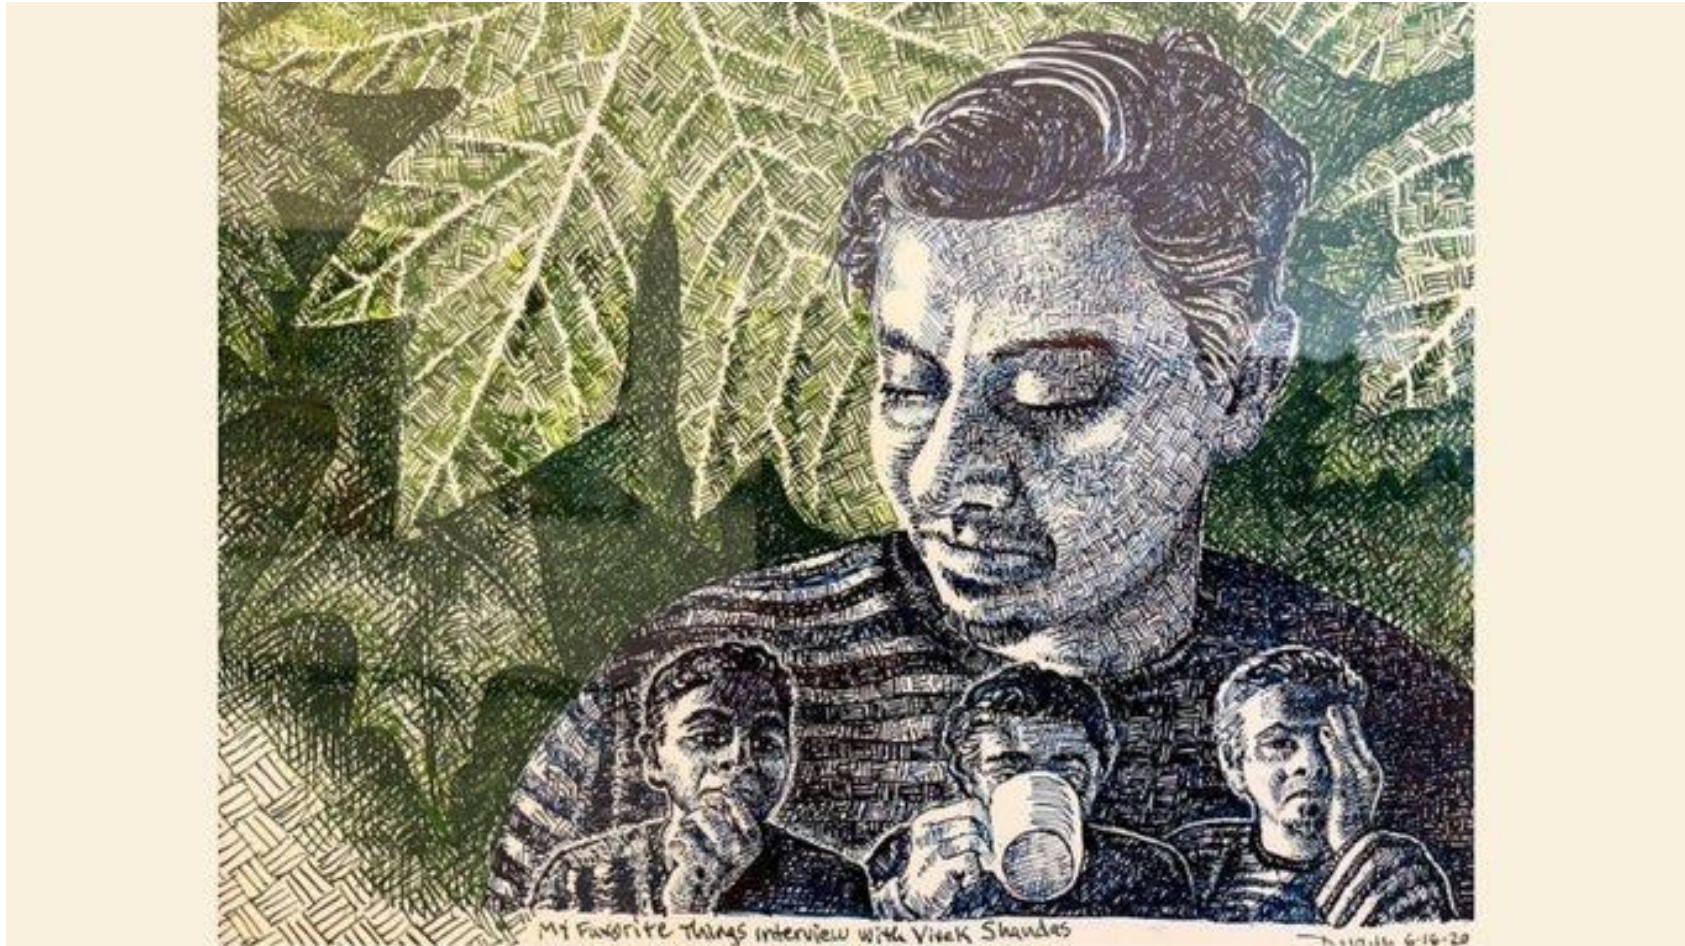

CLIMATE JUSTICE

PDXScholar highlights the work of PSU researchers, fosters cross-disciplinary collaboration, facilitates co-creation of original work, and supports climate advocacy. Watch Creating a Just Climate Future: A Community Dialogue: https://pdxscholar.library.pdx.edu/president_pubs/4/...

Vivek Shandas examines the differential climate-induced impacts on those historically marginalized from decision-making processes. Fahrenheit 911: Heat, Cities and Climate Literacy from the Ground Up Stream: <https://archives.pdx.edu/ds/psu/36960> Image: <http://thomasduane.com>

PSU faculty experts & indigenous scholars – of the Nez Perce, Cherokee, Cayuse, Walla Walla, and Confederated Tribes of Siletz Indians – talk about land and its role in the city. Watch the video, The Infrastructure of the Public City: Land <https://archives.pdx.edu/ds/psu/36849>

What's the most profound change in the last 4 decades of archaeology? The increasing role of tribes/indigenous peoples enlarges the scope of "who" does archaeology. Watch Butler's Reflections on the Past 40 Years of Archaeology in the PNW: <https://archives.pdx.edu/ds/psu/35398>

Collective Action to Reduce Wildfire Risk Across Land Ownerships in the PNW focuses on collective action to promote wildfire risk reduction to increase the resilience of fire-prone forest landscapes across property boundaries. Photo: Fred Way <https://archives.pdx.edu/ds/psu/34937>
