Nice article, which gives a brief knowledge about plasma processing. Here it is clearly describe about reduction of cost by using industrial waste and low grade mineral. The results gives good potential surface properties as that of high cost conventional plasma spray process. This book describe only about the composite ‘fly-ash+quartz+illmenite’, which is to be coat on different type of substrate materials.