Creation Origins

• Mapping IS/IT – sharing informetrics datasets
  • Sustainable information behaviors
  • Not everybody may want to or be able to afford an institutional repository
• Software – open source or proprietary
  • Digital libraries, digital repositories – is there a difference? Greenstone, dSpace, Eprints
  • Choice of metadata frameworks
Self-Archiving

Self-archiving is the practice of depositing digital copies of one’s papers (works) into an OAI-PMH compliant digital repository

- Self-register with an open access archive
- Create metadata
- Deposit your papers
- Include the link (url) in your website

Welcome to the registered user area of DLIST. Please select one of the options below.

Items in your Workspace

Begin a New Item

This will create a new draft item, editing, and allow you to attach files. You must deposit the item for it to be submitted to the collection. Deposited items will appear in the list of items that you have deposited and are up to you for final responsibility. You should review your deposited items if you are not sure if you have deposited the item correctly.

There are items you are currently in the process of depositing. These will not be considered for the archive until you deposit them.
