East Tennessee State University

From the SelectedWorks of Ashley D. Lowery

2016

Digital Commons Homepage Images

Ashley D. Lowery

Available at: https://works.bepress.com/ashley_lowery/48/
The entire process of setting up and managing a journal through Digital Commons has been surprisingly simple through the tireless efforts of our library staff and the BePress representatives. Within two years, our journal has seen great success with the help and support of Digital Commons.

Colton Magnant
Associate Professor
College of Science and Mathematics
For my research, Digital Commons was the best way to publish my work to be accessible by colleagues across the country. The ability to add images and live linking enriched the content.

Donald Armel
Emeritus Faculty
College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences
The Jiann-Ping Hsu College of Public Health faculty members have all submitted material to SelectedWorks over the past two years...This is an excellent means of providing information on faculty member's research and service activities to the University community and to a wider national audience.

Gregory Evans
Dean of Jiann-Ping Hsu College of Public Health
Digital Commons has made the logistics of managing multiple conferences much more concise and less time consuming... [The] submission and review of manuscripts, correspondence with participants and reviewers, and creation of program schedules are all vastly improved and more efficient with Digital Commons.

Kymberly Harris
Associate Professor
College of Education
Housing the honors theses with Digital Commons@Georgia Southern has made it possible for the broader scholarly community to benefit from the research efforts of the students in the University Honors Program. Furthermore, having publication of the theses as a goal is an added incentive for students to produce high-quality work.