As a part of my work with the Corporation for National Service (through the Center for Healthy Communities-early in the 2000s), I co-facilitated workshops throughout Ohio and Michigan on service learning. I was the regional team leader for the Michigan team. This involved creating workshop presentations, coordinating the northern team members and contributing to the core team activities such as writing for the newsletter and reviewing grants. Not only were the workshops service, but also one intended product of the workshops was that the attendees would author grants which funded community service projects. I also provided assistance in grant writing. I co-facilitated 15 workshops at the following places:

Wayne County Community College-5/16/03
West Virginia University-4/28/03
