FORWARD

A brief history of the HSP's Balch Institute microfilm holdings: The Balch Institute holdings were transferred to the HSP when the Balch Institute merged with the HSP in 2002. Per the HSP website, " The Balch Institute for Ethnic Studies opened its doors to the public in 1976, the year our nation celebrated its bicentennial birthday. The institute has its roots in the generosity of Emily Swift Balch (1835-1917), whose will stipulated that the family estate should be used to establish a library in the Philadelphia area if her sons died without heirs."

"In accordance with her wishes, the library was to be named for the family whose ancestor, John Balch, arrived in America from Somerset, England, in 1658. As of January 2002, the Balch Institute has merged with the Historical Society of Pennsylvania." While the former Balch building at 18 South 7th street was sold in early October 2004, the mission and collections of the Balch have been fully integrated into the HSP."

The HSP's microfilm holdings, which include the Balch Institute Microfilm Collection, are housed in the Albert Greenfeld Microfilm Room, located on the main floor of the HSP. In addition to microfilm, the HSP holds hardcopies of a number of ethnic newspapers, manuscripts, and papers. Researchers are encouraged to consult the HSP's online catalog at: www.discover.hsp.org

Report history: This report is based on a survey of the Balch Institute Microfilm Collection, held by the Historical Society of Pennsylvania (HSP). The Balch Institute microfilm holdings were surveyed, researched, and compiled by archives intern, James Gross. This report was submitted to the HSP, as an internal publication, May 2008. This updated report includes some material not present in the original. This report includes: additional data fields and some additional microfilm entries. Edited by James Gross, May, 2013.

The society was formed in Washington, D.C. in 1816-1817 to help freed slaves emigrate from the United States to Africa. It purchased land for resettlement on the west coast of Africa in what is now Liberia, and it was initially supported by antislavery groups and by some slave holders. The society continued to be active after the Civil War, helping in individuals who wished to emigrate to Liberia. In the twentieth century it was primarily concerned with the promotion of education in Liberia. The collection contains correspondence, financial records, annual reports, minutes and proceedings, legal papers, and miscellaneous papers. The original documents are in the Library of Congress. For related materials see records of the Maryland Colonization Society. In English. Register available.

Abstract:	Languages	Greek and English	Collection type	Records
The first successful Greek language newspaper published in America, Atlantis was founded in 1894 by Solon J. and Demetrius J. Vlasto. The paper was headed by a member of the Vlasto family until it closed in 1973. Published in New York City, it had a national circulation and influence. Atlantis supported the royalist faction in Greek politics until the mid-1960s. Other recurring editorial themes include naturalization, war relief, Greek-American business interests, and Greek religious unity. Microfilmed portion of the records consists of scrapbooks. Nonmicrofilmed portions of the records include legal files, correspondence, subscription records, tax returns, financial ledgers and labor files that span the newspaper's entire history. Legal files include translations from Panhellenios, National Herald and other rival newspapers, as well as documentation of Atlantis' compliance with the 1917 Trading with the Enemy Act. Editorial files before 1963 are missing. Labor relations files and financial records are especially extensive. Register available.

Abstract:	Languages	Collection type	Records
Harry Bridges was born Alfred Byrant Renton Bridges, in Melbourne, Australia, and immigrated to the United States in 1920. He was active in the International Longshoremen's Association and in 1937 led the West Coast members out of the American Federation of Labor to form the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union in the Congress of Industrial Organizations. Bridges' militancy, especially during World War II, led to unsuccessful attempts by the United States government between 1937 and 1955 to deport him as a communist. The collection consists of materials related to the deportation hearings, and contains briefs, statements, memoranda, arguments, petitions, opinions of the court, and printed materials about the case. Abstract:	Languages	English	Collection type Papers
MSS 37, MSS 177. A historian and foundation administrator, Clark has written extensively on the Irish immigrant in urban society and Irish life in Philadelphia. The microfilmed portion of the collection consists of Clark's diaries, travelogues, and other writings, as well as clippings, photographs, a transcript of a 1988 taped interview with Clark, and other items. The originals of some, but not all, of the microfilmed items are in MSS 37. (See collection folder for MSS 177 for more information, including an index prepared by Clark.) Overall, the collection consists primarily of research materials, including research papers, drafts of Clark's writings, articles and clippings, correspondence, manuscripts, book reviews, and cassettes. Also present are materials relating to the Clan-na-Gael of Philadelphia. Register and inventory available.

From 1944 until his retirement in 1983, Henry Dende was publisher and editor of the Polish-American Journal (Scranton, Pennsylvania), a newspaper begun ca. 1911 by his father, John Dende. Both father and son were active in local and national Polish American organizations, and Henry Dende served on the board of directors and later as president of the Polish Union of the United States of North America. The collection contains correspondence, speeches, press releases, political campaign literature, and newspaper clippings which document Henry Dende's activities in the local and national Polish community. Material about the Polish-American Journal includes editor's correspondence, letters to the editor, and press releases sent to the newspaper. The collection also includes a small amount of John Dende material. In English and Polish. Register available.

Abstract:	Languages	English	Collection type Papers
Donnelly was born in Philadelphia, son of an immigrant from Fintona, County Tyrone, Ireland and a 2nd generation Irish-American mother. He was admitted to the bar in 1853 and entered politics in 1855. In 1857 he and his wife, Katharine McCaffrey, moved to Nininger, MN. Donnelly had helped locate the townsite, which would remain his home, and organize an immigrant aid association to settle it. He joined the Republican Party in Minnesota and was elected Lieut. governor (1859-1863) and then to the US Congress (1863-1868). Beginning in the 1870's he became involved in the Agrarian reform movement, affiliating with the Grange and a succession of political parties, including the Anti-Monopoly, Greenback Labor, Alliance-Labor, &amp; People's parties, &amp; served several terms in the state legislature. A writer of both fiction &amp; non-fiction, he published 2 short-lived reform-oriented newspapers. The collection includes correspondence and misc papers, literary materials, volumes and pamphlets, &amp; scrapbook materials. The original documents are in the collections of the Minnesota Historical Society. Register Available.

Abstract:	Languages	Collection type	Papers
Albert Gallatin was born in Geneva, Switzerland, and immigrated to the US in 1779, settling in Mass in 1780. In 1784 he moved to Fayette County, PA, where he became involved first in anti-Federalist &amp; later in Republican politics. He was elected to the House of Representatives for the first of 3 terms in 1795. He served as Secretary of the Treasury (1801-1814), US minister to France (1816-1823), &amp; US minister to England (1826-1827). He helped negotiate, &amp; signed, the Treaty of Ghent in 1814. After retirement from politics he served as president of the National Bank of NYC. He helped to found the American Ethnological Society and was its 1st president, as well as serving as president of the NY Historical Society. The collection documents Gallatin's personal life &amp; political activities. It includes autobiographical, biographical, &amp; genealogical materials, correspondence, official documents &amp; minutes, &amp; publications &amp; other materials by Gallatin. The collection also contains an index to Gallatin's correspondents. The original records are held by the NY Historical Society, the National Archives, &amp; other repositories in the US &amp; abroad. In English. Register available.

Abstract:	Languages	English	Collection type Papers
Morris Hillquit was born Morris Hillkowitz in Riga, Latvia, and immigrated to the United States in 1886, settling in New York. Hillquit worked in several factories before completing law school. He was active in the Socialist Labor Party and later in the Socialist Party of America, serving as legal adviser and national chairman (1929-1933). Hillquit helped to found the United Hebrew Trades (1888), the Yiddish weekly Arbeiter Zeitung (1890), and in 1905 the Rand School of Social Science, where he served as a director and trustee until his death. He wrote extensively on socialist philosophy and labor problems. Hillquit aided in major strikes in New York's garment industry in 1909-1910, serving as a member of the first Board of Arbitration established under the "Protocols of Peace," and served as counsel for the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union from 1914 until his death. Register available.

Darlington Hoopes was born in Vale, Maryland and became affiliated with the Socialist Party in 1914. He served as state secretary of the Pennsylvania Socialist Party from 1923 to 1927, socialist member of the Pennsylvania General Assembly from 1930 to 1936, and national chairman of the Socialist Party of the United States from 1946 to 1968. He was the Socialist Party candidate for the presidency in 1952 and 1956. The collection consists primarily of Hoopes' copies of records from the Socialist Party of the United States (1917-1968), the Pennsylvania Socialist Party (1921-1952), and the Reading, Pennsylvania Socialist Party (1915-1960). These records include minutes and other materials from national conventions and the National Executive Committee, and from smaller administrative units such as the Berks County Relief Board and the Reading Consumers' Co-op. Also present are speeches by Hoopes and others, and Hoopes' legislative files from his tenure as a socialist representative to the Pennsylvania General Assembly. The original papers are held by the Pennsylvania State University Archives. Register available.

These files contain materials from the records of the Columbia University Research in Contemporary Cultures Projects, a complete set of which is in the Margaret Mead Papers at the Library of Congress. The projects gathered information on immigrants from a wide variety of ethnic groups. The bulk of the files contain reports or edited transcripts of interviews by members of the research groups. Also present are some abstracts of the interviews and minutes from meetings of the research groups. Related materials include a small quantity of correspondence, notes, and material related to testing and analytical procedures. In some cases the interview files contain copies of papers based on data generated by the projects. In English. Inventory available. Use Restricted.

There are 2 overlapping sets of film reels that were filmed separately. The more complete set, in orange boxes, spans the period 1896-1916. The other set, in Kraus-Thomson (KT) film boxes, spans the period 1883-1936 but has more gaps. The 2 sets were jumbled together. Surveyor sorted them and constructed a single set using orange-boxed reels and KT-boxed reels to fill in gaps. Surveyor placed the remaining rolls are in the Master Reels area.
Issues from 1886-4/15/1923 are in Drawer 288. Issues from 4/16/9123-2/28/1941 are in 289. Issues from 3/1/1941-1950 are in 290.

		English, German, Swedish, Flemish, Italian
The Socialist Labor Party of America was founded in 1877. The organization's membership was initially primarily German immigrants. The organization was plagued with factional disputes and alternated between supporting mainstream candidates for national public office and offering alternative candidates. The membership contained a variety of labor groups and exerted considerable influence in the development of the early twentieth century labor movement, particularly in the garment industry. Factional disagreements led to a schism in 1899, when many dissenters formed the Socialist Party. The Socialist Labor Party then declined. The collection consists of official papers of the party, and includes records of the National Executive Committee, the National Board of Appeals, the party press, State Committees and Local Sections, National Conventions, and notebooks, scrapbooks, and clippings documenting party activities. Committee and Board records include minutes, correspondence, financial records, ballots, and date books. Records of the party press include correspondence, financial records, minutes, and lists of subscribers. Register available.

Abstract:	Languages English	Collection type	Papers
William Wirt was born in Bladensburg, Maryland. In addition to his law practice, he served as Attorney General of the United States, Chancellor of the Eastern District of Virginia, and delegate to the state legislature of Virginia. Among his most important cases was the Cherokee Nation vs. Georgia. In 1833 Wirt began an experimental colony in Florida, populated with German immigrants. The collection consists primarily of correspondence and documents his family life and professional activities, including the Cherokee Nation vs. Georgia and the planning of the German immigrant colony.
