Web Sites Developed

Business Resource Center

URL: <http://www.lib.ipfw.edu/579.0.html>

Description: Provides access to print and electronic resources available to IPFW students. The site includes sections on Core Business Resources, Accounting, Banking and Finance, Business Writing, Company/Industry Data, Financial Ratios, Human Resources, Insurance, International Trade, Investments, Labor Studies, Marketing, and Taxation.

Public Information Reference Service

URL: <http://www.lib.ipfw.edu/581.0.html>

Description: Provides information by and about government at all levels. Developed the sections of the site on local and state governments, including an extensive compilation of sites by and about Indiana and its geographic units called the Indiana Index.

Electronic Atlas of Northeast Indiana: Elections and Voting

URL: <http://atlas.lib.ipfw.edu/1588.0.html>

Description: This site, which covers the eleven counties of northeast Indiana, has several components. Each election includes the candidates with links to their web sites and, after the election, the summary vote totals (as verified by the county election officials). Two Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) grants administered by the Indiana State Library allowed for the development of an infrastructure for a database of public officials past and present. The database should be ready for release to the public in 2008.

IBIDx, the Database of IPFW Faculty Scholarly Works

URL: <http://ibidx.ipfw.edu/>

Description: Worked with a capstone class of senior computer science students under the direction of faculty member Dr. Ken Modisett and with Prof Carl Drummond, head of the IPFW Office of Research and External Support (ORES), to create a database structure that faculty could use to record their scholarly output and that the ORES office could use to create reports and promote the campus to the community.

Summary of Grants

Title: Allen County Libraries Resource Sharing Project

Source: Foellinger Foundation

Date: 1997

Amount: $349,500

Summary: This grant involved nearly all school, public, and academic libraries in Allen County (minus a few without Internet access) and represented the first local effort to purchase databases collaboratively. Four databases were selected and were subsidized by the grant for a one-year period. After the grant period, IPFW continued to coordinate purchase of at least one database for the public school systems for the next three years, replaced by the INSPIRE statewide program.

Title: Electronic Atlas of Northeast Indiana

Source: Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) administered by Indiana State Library

Date: 2001

Amount: $5000

Summary: This grant allowed the library to purchase needed server memory to begin the development of the Electronic Atlas project.

Title: Elections and Voting Section of Electronic Atlas of Northeast Indiana

Source: Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) administered by the Indiana State Library

Date: 2004

Amount: $15,000

Summary: This grant allowed IPFW to work with three public libraries in northeast Indiana to define and then build a structure for creating a public officials database. The database should be released to the public in 2006.

Title: "That Glorious Gate"

Source: Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) administered by the Indiana State Library

Date: 2006

Amount: $25,968

Summary: This grant named for Chief Little Turtle's famed denotation of his tribe's ancestral homelands, includes the digitization and public display of 160 maps and 240 pieces of archival, ephemeral, and photographic materials, including prints, letters, flyers, certificates, tickets and other items sampling the Society's rich collection
