Call for Papers: The Actor in the Interval

Comparative Drama will publish a special issue exploring the interval (understood as a space that distinguishes, connects, or performs) between theater and literary studies, with a focus on the actor. We seek submissions that engage both disciplines, either by combining methodologies or by taking the relationship between fields as a subject. Possible topics include (but are not limited to):

- The mutual influence between scripts and actors
- Accounting for actors in literary studies of drama
- The actor as theatrical embodiment
- Character as a cross-disciplinary concept
- The actor in performance history
- Actors and the reader's audience's imagination
- Prose, verse, utterance, and action
- The actor in literal and metaphorical spaces

Essays may focus on any historical period, geographical region, or type of performance. Trans-historical and international studies are also welcome.

Submissions should be 7,500–10,000 words and follow the Chicago Manual of Style, 16th edition.

Comparative Drama is proud to congratulate Marvin Carlson for winning the Oscar G. Brockett Essay Prize of the 2014 American Society for Theatre Research (ASTR) conference. His winning essay was "The Arab Aristophanes," which was published in Comparative Drama, volume 47.2, our Summer 2013 issue. The essay was edited by Eve Salisbury.
