Outline

- Introduction
- Traditional Roles
- Scholarly Communication
  - New opportunities and new roles
- New User Services
- New Partnerships
Traditional Roles and Services

- Librarian roles and services
  - Acquisitions
  - Archivists
  - Cataloging
  - Circulation
  - Collection Development
  - Reference
Scholarly Communication Changes

- Traditional venues
  - Journals in the sciences
  - Monographs in the humanities

- “Crisis” of 1990s
  - Spiraling publishing costs, especially journals
  - Increasing volume of materials in digital form
  - Lack of access
The cost of journals has soared in recent years, far outstripping the rise of inflation and the investment in research. This has led to journal cancellations and reduced book purchases.

- Average serial price up 227%
- Average book price up 65%
- CPI up 57%
Scholarly Communication Trends

- Scholarly communication paradigm shift
- Increasing amounts of research and scholarship born in digital form
- Need to collect and preserve this material
Transformation of scholarly publishing

- Traditional
- Electronic
- Future models enabled by cyberinfrastructure

Exploration of New Models

- Institutional digital repositories
  - Unified open access to and preservation of the electronic collections of works of members of the institution’s community

- Open access journals
  - Journals available at no cost to end user
  - May or not be refereed
  - Typically available in electronic format
Institutional Repository: What is it?

“a set of services that a university offers to the members of its community for the management and dissemination of digital materials created by the institution and its community members.”

“digital collections that capture and preserve the intellectual output of university communities”

- Ryam Crowe, Case for Institutional Repositories, SPARC, 2002
And That Means?

- Institutionally defined services and content
- Scholarly
- Cumulative and perpetual
- Centralized management
- Open and interoperable
Content

- Research and scholarship materials
  - Theses, honors projects
  - Working papers, conference papers, journal articles
- Teaching materials
  - Learning objects
  - Preprints
  - Audio and video materials
  - E portfolios
Contributors

- Faculty
- Honors students, undergraduate research
- Archivists and Librarians
- Academic Offices
  - Office of Institutional Research
  - Office of Outreach, Cooperative Extension
 ScholarWorks@UMass Amherst is a digital showcase of the research and scholarly output of members of the University of Massachusetts Amherst community. The ScholarWorks repository is administered by the UMass Amherst Libraries and serves as a permanent digital archive for these scholarly materials. (more).

Exploration of New Models

- Institutional digital repositories
  - Unified open access to and preservation of the electronic collections of works of members of the institution’s community

- Open access journals
  - Journals available at no cost to end user
  - May or not be refereed
  - Typically available in electronic format
Open Access

- Open access literature is usually defined as "digital, online, free of charge, and free of most copyright and licensing restrictions" (Suber, 2008)

- Distribution power of the Internet
- Consent of the author or copyright-holder
Faculty Roles and Open Access

- Faculty Roles
  - Authors
  - Peer-reviewers
  - Editors

- Open access options
  - Creative Commons licenses
  - SPARC addendum
Action Steps for Faculty

1. Manage copyright / retain author rights
2. Select journals and publishers with access friendly policies
3. Prefer open access grant agencies when seeking funding
4. Self-archive

How are faculty going to address these new roles?
Why do this?

- Proactive response to scholarly communication and open access issues
- Showcase for scholars and institution
- Ease of use by faculty and students
- Long-term preservation, persistent urls

- Wide dissemination of intellectual output
- More frequent citations
Online or Invisible?

Librarians as Leaders

- Librarian roles transforming
  - Library role as steward of scholarship
  - Collection development expertise
  - Liaison role with faculty
  - Center of expertise on metadata
  - Commitment to long-term preservation
  - Complementarity of repository and licensed digital materials
Clean Energy Connections

Clean Energy Connections is a career and business development information and networking event. It is a forum for the individuals and organizations that will accelerate the growth of our clean energy economy.

Conference programs, presentations, and other ephemera are being archived here on a regular basis. Please check back often.

The award-winning Journal of Hospitality and Tourism Education is a refereed, interdisciplinary quarterly magazine designed to serve the needs of all levels of hospitality and tourism education through the presentation of issues and opinions pertinent to the field. The main objective of this periodical is to facilitate scholarly interchange among hospitality and tourism educators, industry practitioners and educators from related disciplines. All members of International CHRIE eligible to receive JHTE as a member benefit receive the Educator in March, June, September, and December.

Regular features of the JHTE include:

- Papers on relevant academic issues.
- Forum articles addressing current trends and developments related to hospitality and tourism education.
- Creative essays through which educators share unique instructional techniques or other innovative approaches in the classroom.

International CHRIE’s Journal of Hospitality & Tourism Education has received the 2003 Golden Page Award.
New User Services
Library 2.0

- Web 2.0 technologies
- User-centered change to support active student learning
- Review services using patron input
- Create new services regularly
  - Information literacy
  - Copyright, fair use, plagiarism
Why an alternative interface?
Next Generation Library Catalogs

- Single search box, like Google
- Relevancy ranking of search results
- Faceted browsing
- Search catalog & other sources at one time
- Cover art, TOC, summaries
- Evaluative content, write reviews, comments
Open Educational Resources

- Made free to use or share, and in some cases, to change and share again, made possible through licensing
- Both teachers and learners can share what they know
- Part of Teaching Commons
OER Content Types

- Activities
- Games
- Homework assignments
- Lecture notes and plans
- Readings
- Simulations
- Textbooks
Partnerships, old and new

- Academic Computing
- Continuing Education
- Faculty
- Institutional Research
- Students
- Teaching Support Services
Cranberry Station

The UMass Cranberry Station provides research-based outreach to Massachusetts cranberry growers regarding horticultural and pest management and environmentally sound farming practices. The Station serves as a resource to Southeastern MA communities regarding issues related to cranberry farming, the largest agricultural enterprise in the region. [Read more here]

The library in new roles and partnerships!

- Transition to digital collections
- Highlighting what is unique, but of value to other scholars and making it accessible
- Utilize existing skills in organizing, and providing access
- Enhancing the value of the library by contributing to the mission of the institution
- Value to institution, and to the wider scholarly community
