March 15, 2012

Seth Barrett Tillman

Available at: https://works.bepress.com/seth_barrett_tillman/259/
“After September 11, 2001, concerns about terror attacks on the seat of Government (of the three airplanes, United Flight 93 did reach its intended target, which was assumed to the White House or Capitol) has caused commentators to consider changing the quorum requirements in the event of an emergency. 3”