Outlook on India 2010 - Table of Contents

Sonia Baldia

Available at: https://works.bepress.com/sonia_baldia/17/
Why You Should Attend

A must-attend learning and networking event for American businesses and law practitioners that want to expand their understanding of investment and trade opportunities in the Indian markets. Building on this forum’s successes of the past years, Outlook on India 2010 provides you with extensive, targeted information on the current business and investment climate in India, and identifies for you the opportunities and challenges of India’s legal and business environment.

Learn from a stellar faculty of over a dozen industry experts, including Indian government advisors, Indian attorneys, and U.S. attorneys, who will share their deep knowledge base, first hand experience and candid insights on doing business in this dynamic region. Fulfill your need to access new information, affirm or adjust your own business plans and establish new connections with professionals represented at Outlook on India 2010. From informative and interactive presentations and roundtables to networking, Outlook on India 2010 offers you incredible opportunities to meet and exchange ideas with attorneys and executives who share the same goals and challenges.

What You Will Learn

• Explore recent trends in foreign direct investments in India and decipher the practical impact of tax regulatory changes
• Analyze recent developments in India’s capital markets and what those developments portend for the future
• Understand critical nuances of technology transfer and licensing practices involving Indian counterparties
• Gain effective strategies for intellectual property protection and enforcement
• Receive insights on structuring and financing infrastructure projects and green projects
• Learn how to raise funds for India-related projects
• Hear about India’s recent legal reforms, including India’s new competition law, and cyber security and data protection law
• Obtain practical insights on how to avoid errors and mitigate litigation risk arising from India-related transactions
• Master best practices in negotiating outsourcing agreements with Indian providers
• Gain perspective through sector-specific discussions

Who Should Attend

This program is designed for attorneys and business executives involved in doing business in India or with Indian companies, and interested in the latest thinking on what the future holds for this fast-growing economy.
Reserve your place today, call (800) 260-4PLI or visit www.pli.edu.