College of Education Research Professor
Published Work Ranked 7th among Popular Authors

Terence Hicks

Available at: https://works.bepress.com/terence_hicks/30/
College of Education Research Professor Published Work Ranked 7th among Popular Authors

Dr. Terence Hick’s published research on High School to College Transition was among the most downloaded content in the Higher Education Administration Digital Commons Network. Dr. Hicks ranked 7th out of the 2,060 authors and his High School to College Transition: A profile of Stressors, Physical and Psychological Health Issues that Affect the First-Year On-Campus College Student research work ranked 6th among 3,709 full-text articles. Notable authors from the Higher Education Commons top ten were from the University of Connecticut, University of Pennsylvania, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Eastern Illinois University. Dr. Hicks was the only author from a Historically Black College and University (HBCU) to be ranked in the top ten.

The Digital Commons Network brings together scholarship from hundreds of universities and colleges, providing open access to peer-reviewed journal articles, book chapters, dissertations, working papers, conference proceedings, and other original scholarly work. This constantly growing body of publications is curated by university librarians and their supporting institutions, and represents thousands of disciplines and subject areas.

Dr. Terence Hicks is a Professor in the Department of Educational Leadership and Counseling and the Interim Dean for the Whitlowe R. Green College of Education. Dr. Hicks is a noteworthy scholar who has conducted important research analysis on college retention and the psychological well-being of college students. He was invited by the Center for African-American Research & Policy (CAARP) to participate in a special session related to the Black in America: CNN Documentary in Memphis, Tennessee. Dr. Hicks has been interviewed and cited in the USA Today, the Research Alert National Yearbook, the Detroit News, ABC-KTKA Channel 49 in Topeka, Kansas and served as a Research Fellow for the National Institutes of Health, National Center of Minority Health and Health Disparities for three consecutive years. He has published 3 books, over 70 combined research publications/presentations and has been cited by over 150 combined national/international researchers.